Case study

Forest Bathing, West Cork, Ireland

We specialize in Forest Bathing, Forest Therapy, and Forest Schooling for kids and adults. In our forest bathing experiences, we foster a love of and protectiveness towards the natural world which is based on the Japanese practice of Shinrin-yoko. The gentle medicine of the forest slows you down and helps you to be fully present in your body and senses.

Around the world, people are turning to forest bathing as a way to unplug, relieve stress, and encourage creativity.

THE GREEN ECONOMY FOUNDATION

THE GREEN ECONOMY FOUNDATION is an environmental non-government organization based at The Manch Estate in Co. Cork, Ireland. We work to promote the development of a Green Economy – where sustainable and resource-efficient business models will outperform and ultimately replace those dependent on profit alone. Founded in 2002 as the 'Irish Natural Forestry Foundation', we work to advocate economically, socially and environmentally sustainable forestry in Ireland. Over the years our work has diversified into the areas of biodiversity, climate change, sustainable agriculture and resource efficiency. Now re-named the Green Economy Foundation our aim is to support the development of a Green Economy in Ireland and beyond.

FOREST THERAPY PROGRAM

Forest Therapy incorporates the practice of Forest Bathing while targeting specific mental health and physical health difficulties.

Forest Therapy Practitioners work in partnership with the forest to enhance nature connection. Forest Therapy is grounded in the Forest Bathing practice of sensory connection, effortless attention, and immersing the senses in the forest atmosphere. In this way, Forest Therapy can act as an adjunct to standard treatment and rehabilitation for specific illnesses. (Forest Therapy Institute 2019)

FOREST SCHOOL

Forest School is a child-centered learning process, where children are offered the opportunity to spend time in natural settings that helps to support play, and supported risk-taking. It develops confidence and self-esteem through learner-inspired, hands-on experiences in a natural setting.

At the Nature Hub, we strive to create a safe and supportive space for children in the outdoors. A space where they have the opportunity to explore and play at their own pace, where they are offered the time and encouragement to learn with nature, and where they can connect with their peers in a fun environment.

Forest School is an opportunity for the same group of learners and leaders to spend a sustained period outdoors, once a week, in a wooded environment, ideally year-round. A regular routine is followed that is learner-led and facilitated by trained leaders. Learning is holistic and closely related to the developmental stage and regular curricular requirements. There must be a high ratio of leaders to learners, everyone must be suitably dressed and a risk/benefit approach to health and safety is followed by all. (Irish Forest School Association, 2017) <https://thenaturehub.ie/forest-school/>

FOREST SCHOOL PRINCIPLES

REGULAR SESSIONS

Forest school is a long-term process of regular sessions, rather than one-off or infrequent visits; the cycle of planning, observation, adaptation and review links each session.

WOODLAND SETTING

Forest school takes place in a woodland or natural environment to support the development of a relationship between the learner and the natural world.

COMMUNITY

Forest School uses a range of learner-centered processes to create a community for being, development, and learning.

HOLISTIC DEVELOPMENT

Forest School aims to promote the holistic development of all those involved, fostering resilient, confident, independent, and creative learners.

OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE RISKS

Forest school offers learners the opportunity to take supported risks appropriate to the environment and to themselves.

QUALIFIED PRACTITIONERS

Forest School is run by qualified Forest School practitioners who continuously maintain and develop their professional practice.

These principles are based on the UK model of Forest School learning that is promoted by the Forest School
